

Fall 2009 IU Asian Culture Center Language
Informal Class Description and Schedule

*****

Chinese (Mandarin) Please join us to learn Chinese language and culture. We'll start with the very basic phonetic alphabet. No previous knowledge of Chinese is required. Meets every Tuesday from 5 to 6 p.m.
Teacher: Claire Chen

Chinese Mandarin

Beginner II Chinese Class

Come and join us to learn Chinese language and culture! In this class, students will learn the basic grammar and pronunciation. There will also be an opportunity to begin basic conversation in Mandarin. No previous knowledge of Chinese is needed.

Meets every Wednesday from 5 to 6 p.m.

Teacher: Hsiao-Chun Huang

***** Korean

Join us for a conversation-focused Korean class!

This class is geared to anyone who wants to learn useful expressions that they can use right away. No previous knowledge of Korean is necessary.

Meets every Monday from 5 to 6 pm.

Teacher: Ju Young Jin

*****

Korean Beginners' 2 and Intermediate

Come to learn about Korean language and culture.

We will use the text books, '한국어 읽기' from Yeon-seh University, and 'Gateway to Speaking Korean'.

Beginner 2 Korean:

This class is for students who know the Korean alphabet and can read minimally.

This class started in Spring 2009, so it will continue with Lesson 16 of '한국어.'

Don't be afraid if your Korean is rusty, the teacher will review what was taught in Spring 2009.

Meets every Thursday at 4:30-5:30pm

Teacher: Helena Cheun

Intermediate Korean

This class is for students who can read and write Korean.

It will start with '한국어 3,' but mainly uses 'Speaking Korean'.

Meets every Thursday at 5:40-6:40pm

Teacher: Helena Cheun

-----
Japanese Beginners' Class : This class is canceled. As soon as we find a new teacher, it'll be updated.

No previous knowledge of Japanese is necessary. You will start from the basics of grammar and reading and writing hiragana and katakana. Then we will quickly move into beginning conversation practice. You will need the textbook called "Genki I"(available at IU book store)

*****

Japanese Beginners' 2 and Intermediate Classes

Beginners II Japanese Class:

This is a class for beginners who have learned some basics of Japanese (e.g. reading and writing of hiraganas and katakanas, some basic sentence patterns and particles, etc.), and I start from Lesson 5 of a textbook titled "Genki I" (teacher will email copies in pdf format for printing).

Note that this is a continued class from the last semester, but it is not restricted to the students from the last semester, of course, but open to anyone who is more or less at the same level in Japanese learning. Please visit my blog for more details: <http://blog.goo.ne.jp/michikosjapaneseclass>

Meets every Monday Evenings at 6-7:10pm

Teacher: Michiko Owaki

Intermediate Japanese Class

This is a class for intermediate level students. I will start from the review of Lesson 9 of the textbook Genki I (teacher will email copies in pdf format for printing). Note that this is a continued class from the last semester, but it is open to anyone who is more or less at the same level in Japanese learning.

Please come and see. Please visit my blog for more details: <http://blog.goo.ne.jp/michikosjapaneseclass>

Meets every Monday Evenings at 7:15-8:15

Teacher: Michiko Owaki

---

Tagalog (Filipino) Language

This informal class will focus on conversational Tagalog. This class is open to both beginners and advanced Tagalog language students. The lessons will not only focus on language but will introduce you to basic Filipino culture, history and politics. Three Filipino native speakers will alternate to teach this class.

Meets every Wednesday at 6PM

Coordinator/Teacher: Chris Magno

---

---

Tagalog (Filipino) Language

This informal class will focus on conversational Tagalog. This class is open to both beginners and advanced Tagalog language students. The lessons will not only focus on language but will introduce you to basic Filipino culture, history and politics. Three Filipino native speakers will alternate to teach this class.

Meets every Wednesday at 6PM

Coordinator/Teacher: Chris Magno